A FOURTH AS BRIGHT AND SHINY AS A NEW PENNY--Hundreds of local people and visitors turned out on the Bethel common Saturday to celebrate our independence from Britain -- and from the past weeks of incessant rain. Celebrants were treated to a day of art, music, games and food. In the evening, the celebration concluded with a heavenly battle, as The Forces of Light (in the form of fireworks) went toe to toe with The Forces of Darkness (returning rain). Observers agree that when the smoke cleared, the Forces of Light had prevailed, at least in this brief skirmish.

Opposition increasing to Woodstock school for sex-abused youth

By ALISON ALOISIO

A 50-signature petition. A letter from selectmen to the Department of Human Services.

Possible meetings with the county sheriff and county commissioners. Those were the initiatives that came out of a sometimes-heated meeting Tuesday between Woodstock selectmen and the concerned neighbors of a proposed residential care facility for sexually abused children.

The planned facility, to be located at the former Woodstock Wilderness Experience school near Concord Pond, would house a dozen students of age ranges 9 through 14. It is expected to open next month.

Nearby residents said they obtained a definition from DHS that describes sexually abuse reactive children as "so deeply traumatized by sexual abuse they react by acting out the trauma that was perpetrated on them in an aggressive and/or sexual manner."

The new owners of the property are Armand and Kathleen Madore, of Western Maine Assessment and Counseling Services of Mexico.

At the June 16 selectmen's meeting, East Milton resident Dennis Billings said he was worried for the safety of neighborhood children.

The facility will be staffed 24 hours a day, but no plans for security have been put forth by the Madores.

Selectmen told Billings they have

Landmark tavern in Gilead listed as endangered

By ALISON ALOISIO

A 200-year-old Gilead tavern -- considered to be a birthplace of White Mountain tourism -- has been placed on Maine Preservation's 1998 List of Maine's Most Endangered Historic Properties.

The Peabody Tavern, listed on the National Register of Historic Places, is located on Route 2, just east of Gilead village. It was a former stage stop along the White Mountain route into New Hampshire, and is the last of its kind still standing in Oxford County. (Another inn, the Poplar Tavern in Newry, burned several years ago.)

The tavern also has an architectural feature more common to Maine's coast than to its mountains -- a quarter-hipped roof, formed by the intersection of two gabled roofs. The Peabody Tavern was built around 1800 for Thomas Peabody, an early settler who came to Gilead

'Not your mother's roller skates' Committee formed to consider plan for giving in-line skaters more access to Bethel village

By MICHAEL DANIELS

"I think we can meet in the middle of the road somewhere," said Bethel Police Chief Darren Tripp. Tripp opposes allowing in-line skaters to use the streets of in-town Bethel.

But in-line skater Michael Broderick is trying to convince the town selectmen to make the little wheels street legal in at least some parts of the village.

Both men made their cases to the selectmen Monday, and the board responded by appointing them to a committee to hash the matter out and come up with a proposal for possibly expanding local blading territory.

The committee will have three members, with the third to be selected by Town Manager Phil Tarr. (Wally Hannigan, present for Monday's meeting on a different matter, suggested that the third member be a teenager.)

While Tripp and Broderick see the in-line skating issue from different perspective, they saw no difficulty in working together.

Broderick, who had met earlier with Tripp on the issue, praised the chief's "openness to creating compromise."

And while Tripp acknowledged his opposition to opening more of the town to in-line skating, he also told the board: "The only thing I've really engraved in stone is Main

50-year-old club keeps on rocking

By ALISON ALOISIO

The pickings may be a little slimmer for today's rockhounds than for those of 50 years ago. But the Oxford County Mineral & Gem Association -- celebrating its 50th anniversary this year -- is still going strong.

Norm Davis of Newry is one of only two charter members left from the original group of three dozen that formed the association in 1948. He joined when he was 9 years old, along with his parents, Robert and Bertha. He's been active for most of the years since then.

The OCMGA's purpose was, and is, "the education and entertainment of like-minded people interested in minerals," said Davis. "They ran field trips to local mines for members and their guests, and it still works that way."

The OCMGA is the second oldest group of a half-dozen of its kind in the state, and is located in Maine's prime rock and mineral region. "This is the county for collecting in Maine," said Davis.

Gem, mineral, jewelry show this weekend at Telstar

Western Maine is known internationally for its feldspar, amethyst, quartz, beryl, tourmaline and other gems and minerals.

The association's membership has stayed relatively stable over the years. Currently, it stands at 50. An average of 15 to 20 regularly attend the monthly meetings, held at Davis' Newry home. The evening's program often includes presentations on mineral identification and jewelry making, or sometimes a video or slide show.

The club holds a mineral auction at a fall meeting, donating the proceeds to a local charity. Occasionally, said Davis, they award a scholarship to a high school graduate.

The association's primary fundraiser is its annual Western Maine Gem, Mineral & Jewelry Festival, held in July at Telstar High School.

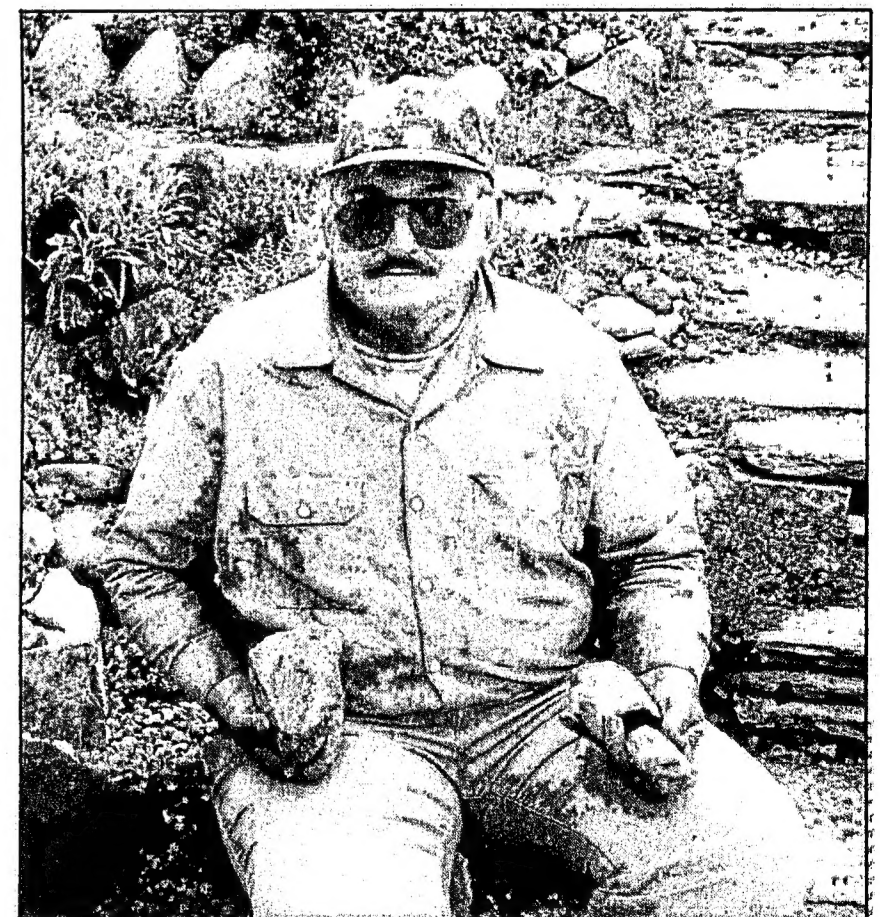

Between 500 and 600 people generally pass through the doors during the two-day weekend event. Most are local people, but tourists -- both American and international -- are mixed in as well. Some come from out-of-state especially for the festival.

"We have good exhibits of local and world-wide gems," said Davis. The club usually nets between $800 and $1,000.

This year's event takes place this Saturday and Sunday, and will have 15 dealers on hand.

KEEPING UP THE FIGHT IN ALBANY

To the Editor:

A year ago, the Passamaquoddy Tribe filed an application for permission to build a high stakes Bingo Hall in Albany. The proposal was met with strong local opposition due to a myriad of legitimate concerns. Issues of environmental damage, flooding, increased traffic, lack of local police, fire, and emergency response protection services, inadequate roads and bridges, and more were raised. These were presented at a two-day public hearing on August 20-21, 1997. In spite of overwhelming evidence to the contrary, on Nov. 20, 1997, the Land Use Regulatory Commission (LURC) issued a permit for this use.

Currently, the LURC decision is the subject of several lawsuits, and the tribe has not begun construction. The tribe has not publicly stated that they are waiting to see how the lawsuits turn out.

The contract between the tribe and its financier is on file with the Bureau of Indian Affairs in Washington. But until recently, the Bureau refused to release it. It took a federal judge's summary judgment instructing the Bureau of Indian Affairs to get this document. It contains language which proves the concerns of many of us that the long-term goal of the tribe is to build another Foxwoods here in rural Albany. What the tribe and its attorneys denied all along is now public record, and evidence in the lawsuits.

In line with their long-term goals, the tribe filed several bills in the state legislature this winter. LD1961 attempted to make an additional 50 acres in Albany eligible to become federal trust land, but this was defeated in committee by a unanimous 13-0 vote. A second bill, LD964, to remove Indian land from LURC jurisdiction, was defeated by virtue of the deadlock of the joint conference committee. Many residents and landowners concerned about the future of Albany attended the hearings on these bills.

Now we are in the pretrial period, when both sides are making motions about what should and should not be admitted as evidence. For example, the site flooded again with this June's rains, but those pictures were refused as evidence. People should not think that this issue has gone away! The Albany Improvement Association has been raising money and seeking donations to pay for the lawsuits in Maine court. Two attorneys, both Albany residents, are donating their precious time and energy to prosecute the matters in Federal court. Many people have already made generous contributions, but expenses continue to mount, and more help is needed. Will readers please join me in making an additional contribution to keep Albany as "the way life should be"? Contributions can be sent to David Salway, Treasurer, P. O. Box 245, Bethel, Maine 04217.

A MAGNIFICENT IMPROVEMENT

To the Editor:

The Androscoggin Source to the Sea Canoe Trek started on Saturday, June 27, at the Umbagog National Wildlife Refuge and will end at Fort Popham on the Maine coast on July 15. The trek is structured so that people can safely canoe different sections of the trek during the 19-day voyage from Magalloway River, one of the Androscoggin River headwaters, to the Gulf of Maine. In addition, there are educational programs in many of the communities along the river on topics such as local Native American history, logging history, river ecology, birds, water quality, and non-point source pollution.

The purpose of the trek is to recognize the Androscoggin River as an important ecological, economic, aesthetic, recreational, and educational resource. The trek is also designed to highlight the connection between the communities in the watershed. The Androscoggin River was one of the dirtiest rivers in the United States 30 years ago, until federal and state initiatives were implemented to improve the ecological health. The river water quality has improved significantly and is now clean enough to provide magnificent canoeing and kayaking.

During the trek, a modest water quality testing program to establish benchmarks is being implemented. To reinforce local stewardship and work toward continued improvement of the ecological health of the Androscoggin River, participants will survey visible point source pollution, bank erosion, filled-in wetlands and riparian areas, dump sites, oil slicks, fish kills, algal blooms, etc.

The annual Canoe Trek has been very successful since its inception in 1996. More than 400 people have canoeed different sections of the Androscoggin River, and hundreds more have participated in activities organized in the different communities. This tremendous success is the result of the combined efforts of community groups, non-profit/state/federal conservation agencies, pulp and paper mills, local volunteers and others, who sponsored public events in many of the 26 river towns in Maine and New Hampshire.

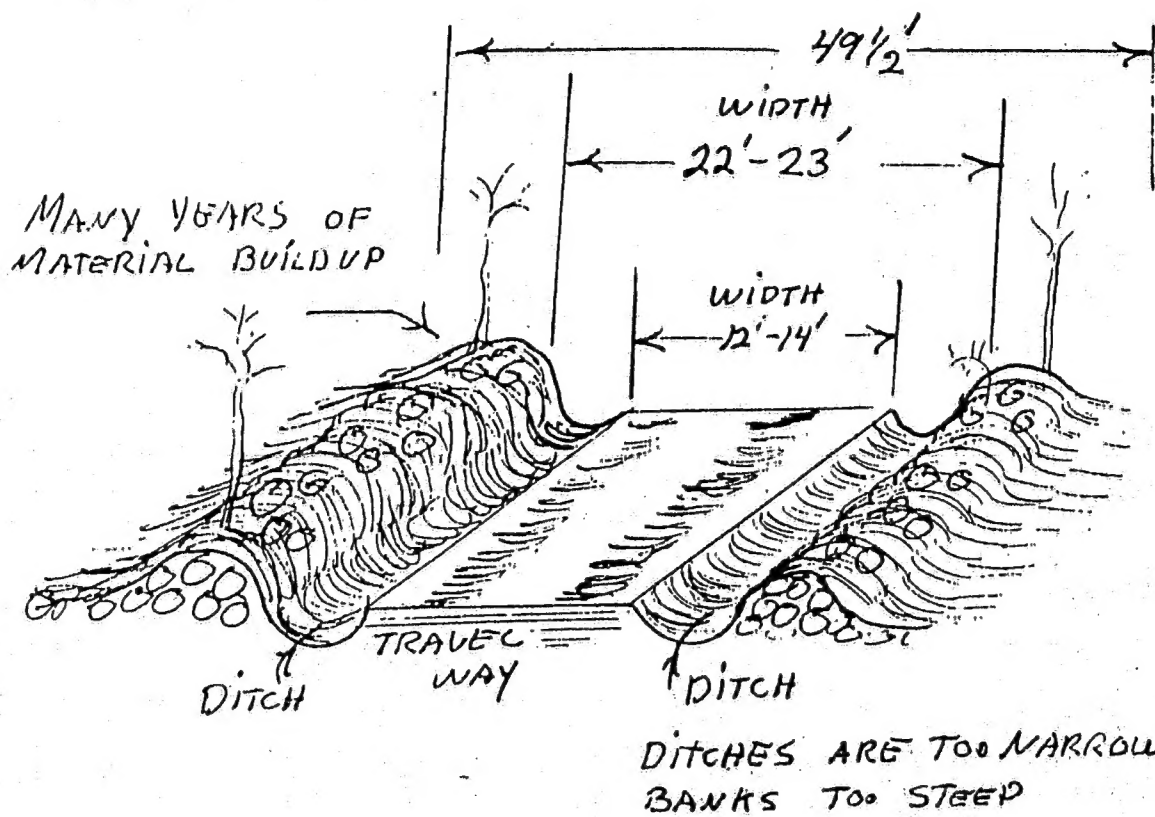

One major outcome of the Canoe Trek is that some of the same interests collaborating on the trek are coming together to form an Androscoggin River Watershed Council. There have been a number of meetings with groups from New Hampshire and Maine to explore the benefits. The steering committee that was formed is developing draft mission and goals for the Androscoggin River Watershed Council and will be presented to the larger group for review, revision and adoption. Some of the issues that are being considered for the council include river recreation management, riparian habitat protection, and sustainable economic development.

The 1998 Source to the Sea Canoe Trek is a joint project of the Androscoggin Land Trust and the AMC Upper Androscoggin Valley Community Conservation Project.

Additional support has been provided by the Maine Department of Environmental Protection, New Hampshire Department of Environmental Services, New England Grassroots Fund, Mead Paper, Crown Vantage, International Paper, Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments, North Country Council, Bates College, Mahosue Land Trust, Sunday River Maine, Union Water Power, Old Town Canoe Co., Patagonia, Wausau-Mosinee Paper Corp., Androscoggin Savings Bank, Liberty Mutual Group, Maine Cellular, Poland Spring Bottling, Robinson Manufacturing, and Public Service of New Hampshire. And more.

SWAN HILL ROAD IMPROVEMENTS REQUESTED—A group of Swan Hill Road residents is pressing the Bethel selectmen to improve summer maintenance on the road, and to make the repairs necessary to reopen it to winter maintenance (a Town Meeting vote would be required to reopen the road to winter maintenance). "The road is deteriorating quickly," said resident Fred Turton. The selectmen have expressed sympathy, but noted that there is little money for such work in this year's budget, and that getting the road in condition for winter maintenance could prove to be a multi-year project. Selectman Don Bennett, who provided this sketch of the roadway, said Monday: "It obviously needs a lot of work," including brushing and clearing overhanging trees (so that sunlight can reach the surface), repairing the road surface and improving sub-surface drainage. He noted that a rocky berm built up along the road from earlier ditching projects could make the project quite costly. The selectmen have agreed to get estimates on the cost of repairing the road, and to bring the question of reopening it to winter maintenance to a special Town Meeting before the fall.

ALBANY'S BATTLE IS NOT OVER

To the Editor:

Now that the battle over the proposed high-stakes gambling hall has moved into the slow-moving court system, the possibility of this development really happening in our community may seem more remote and deserving of less concern. It is not.

Based on the legal arguments of the attorneys for the tribe and the out-of-state developer on one side versus those of the attorneys representing the Albany community, the court will decide one way or the other.

The court has now ruled on the preliminary motions and the schedule for submitting the briefs is set.

On June 22, 1998, the court issued its order on the question of what additional evidence could be submitted in the case. All of the additional documents that I reasonably expected to be allowed in, were approved by the court. The big question was whether the court would allow in the unedited version of the tribe and Snake River Financing's contract. As your readers may recall, the commission took the position that this document was not relevant. Through Jeff Rosenblatt's efforts, the federal court ordered release of that document from the Bureau of Indian Affairs. The contract made clear that this facility is but the tip of the iceberg of what the developers want to develop in the Albany area. The court did good.

The briefs on behalf of the community of Albany are now due Aug. 10, with the tribe's brief due about a month thereafter. Oral argument will be scheduled this fall, and thereafter the court will issue its decision.

In the meantime members of the Albany Improvement Association are hard at work raising money for this complex legal battle through donations and fundraising events. Despite the fact that Jeff and I have contributed our legal services without compensation, the association still needs to raise substantial sums. The next fundraising event is the upcoming supper at 5:30 p.m. on July 18 at the Hunt's Corner Church.

Let's cut to the money chase

By MIKE BROWN

Let's cut right to the chase about the bungling political shenanigans concerning State of Maine finances.

First off, state finances are what individuals and businesses pay to run the state. Call it taxes. The state then takes the money, its current political administration makes revenue projections and comes up with a legal balanced budget.

The current administration, that of Gov. Angus King Jr., claims that the state is in "great shape." He touts this on his reelection campaign trail. So do all the bureaucrats who rely on the King administration for four more years on the payroll dole.

However, the state is hardly in great shape. There is a structural gap, that is, a shortfall of some $400 million between projected revenues and expenditures for the next biennium, FY 2000-2001. This is because the governor and majority Democrats in the Legislature not only spent what surplus there was but encumbered taxpayers for the next two years with new programs and spending.

But the biggest financial scam on citizens is the governor's politicizing a law that will reduce the Maine sales tax by $60 million a year. This happens because revenue for the previous year exceeded 8 percent of the preceding year. Never mind that the governor and Democrats spent the increase. The 1993 law says that the sales tax must be reduced 1/2 percent.

Nobody with any non-partisan savvy in the state bureaucracy sees any ambiguity in law except Gov. King and his administration groupies who have sent the issue to the law court. They are hoping that this shot in the dark will ricochet from a reduction that takes place not this October but October 1999.

King's political obstruction is apparent. Hoping that the court will say 1999 gives King, if he is re-elected, and the majority Legislature, if it is Democratic, the opportunity to repeal the sales tax reduction law to finance (without cutting) the liberal agenda of both the governor and Democrats. A reminder that it was this dynamic liberal duo which stifled the Republicans and enacted a one-party Democratic state budget disenfranchising half the voters of Maine.

If King had the welfare of the citizens utmost and not his political agenda he would have said let state sales tax cut go forth this October and bring on the challengers.

This political finance scam hides under the King political tent in Augusta. And the slipstream media seems content to let the tax scamming of Maine lie until the fall elections.

Sen. Rick Bennett (R) and ranking R-member of the appropriations committee, tried in the second week of June to get some answers about Maine money. He invited Janet Waldron, financial guru-ess for King; Jack Nickolas, state budget officer; Carol Whitney, state controller; Brian Mahaney, state tax assessor and Dale McCormick, state treasurer; all to an open R-caucus of the appropriations committee. He was stifled by all and Bennett had to cancel the meeting.

It was Gov. King and his administration's financial geniuses who pounded the money counting desk in the spring and said "the state cannot afford a reduction in the sales tax which was the Republican's prime tax reduction initiative." So now obviously King and the Democrats are not about to eat sales tax crow. King sends the sales tax reduction issue to the law court so he can duck credibility and blame the resolving of "statute ambiguity" on the court and not his political mumblety peg.

Politics is hard ball and oftentimes a dirty game. Both seem to be the agenda with the true scoreboard in the Augusta league.

Briefly

Tribe's contract OK'd as evidence

AUGUSTA--Opponents of a proposal by the Passamaquoddy Indian Tribe to build a 2,000-seat bingo hall in Albany Township have expressed satisfaction with a recent ruling by a Kennebec County Superior Court justice -- despite the fact that Justice Donald G. Alexander has ruled against admitting as evidence much of the material they sought to have included in their lawsuit against a ruling by the Maine Land Use Regulation that allowed the project to go ahead. "We won on the major pieces," said Margaret Wille, one of the attorneys representing the opponents. The evidence which was admitted includes both the full text of the contract between the tribe and its financial backer, and the record of LURC decisions (which lawyers in the lawsuit will now be able to refer to in their briefs). A decision on the suit is expected before the end of the year, Wille said.

Roadside spring "not pristine"

WOODSTOCK--Unsatisfactory total coliform counts the past couple of months have prompted selectmen to arrange a meeting to plan improvements to the roadside spring on Route 26. The spring is tested monthly. Jim Chandler of the Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District said there was no indication of pathogenic bacteria. The bacteria found, he said, are associated with decomposed tree material. There has also been an ongoing sediment problem, Chandler said. He said he does not believe the situation is creating a health problem, but people should know "it's not 100 percent pristine water." One solution may be to place tiles around the spring to relieve the sedimentation problem, he said. Chandler and the selectmen are expected to meet with the owners of the property that is adjacent to the spring outlet to discuss options.

Reroute Lakeside Drive?

WOODSTOCK--Neighbor Tom O'Rourke has offered 10 feet of his roadside property to the town to reroute Lakeside Drive -- thus improving the tight traffic situation near the Lake Christopher beach. Traffic safety problems near the beach have been the subject of discussion in recent months. The town has in previous years placed a portable toilet in what had been a roadside parking space to prevent parked cars from rolling onto the beach. But a Maine Municipal Association lawyer has recommended against that practice, citing liability issues. Placing concrete barriers along the beach was also suggested, but selectmen observed the barriers might take up too much space. A town ordinance governing parking and speed limits in the area was also suggested. A committee of citizens is expected to be organized to look at options for beach safety.

Library plans moving forward

WOODSTOCK--Bids for the construction of the Whitman Memorial Library addition will be advertised over the next two weeks, according to Town Manager Vern Maxfield. The bids will be opened July 28.

Hart bound for Tripp Middle School

RUMFORD--Dan Hart, a former guidance counselor at Telstar High School, is leaving his current position with Region 9 School of Applied Technology to become assistant principal of Tripp Middle School in Turner. He has served as student services coordinator for Region 9 for five years. He is the third SAT administrator to leave in recent months. Dewaine Craig, former SAD44 superintendent, also recently left his position as Region 9 director to become a school superintendent in Blue Hill.

Gazebo concerts start Sunday

BETHEL--The Gazebo Series will again bring concerts to the Bethel Common this summer. The first, scheduled for Sunday, features a Chamber Ensemble from the International Musical Arts Institute at Fryeburg. Founded in 1997, the Institute is a summer musical community for young professionals as well as established concert artists drawn from more than a dozen countries and four continents. The Sunday concert will feature selected works from Boccherini, Barber and Mozart. Upcoming concerts include the Mahosuc Music Makers on July 26, Rakish Paddy's Irish music and sea shanties on Aug. 2, and the Zingo Zango Generic Jug Band Aug. 9. The rain site is Bingham Auditorium at Gould Academy. The concerts are sponsored by the Mahosuc Arts Council, and are open to the public.

More protection for Lake Umbagog

ERROL, N.H.--About 2,000 acres of shorelands, wetlands and forest land on Lake Umbagog will likely gain protected status, thanks to an expected $1.8 million in federal funds. U.S. Sen. Judd Gregg said last week he expects to be successful in securing the money from the Land and Water Conservation Fund to purchase land and easements from the Mead Corporation. The land is located on the northern end of the lake, on both sides of the Maine-New Hampshire border.

Disaster funds approved

WASHINGTON--Federal disaster funds have been made available for Maine to help communities in six counties recover from the effects of recent severe storms. The assistance was authorized under President Clinton's major disaster declaration issued last Thursday. The declaration was prompted by damage to public property from storms and subsequent flooding that began June 13, according to James Witt, director of the Federal Emergency Management Agency. The counties included are Oxford, Androscoggin, Franklin, Kennebec, Somerset and York. The federal government will pay 75 percent of the eligible costs for debris removal, emergency services related to the disaster, and repairing or replacing damaged public facilities, such as roads, buildings and utilities. Federal funds also will be available to the state on a cost-shared basis for approved projects that reduce future disaster risks.

Census 2000 needs workers

RUMFORD--The U.S. Census Bureau wants to hire people familiar with the Rumford region to help build an address list that will serve as the basis for mailing out questionnaires in Census 2000. Those hired will canvass housing units from late summer through the fall of 1998 to build the list and create maps that show the location of housing units. The jobs have flexible hours and are recommended for students, teachers, retirees and anyone else looking to earn extra income on a temporary basis. Anyone interested may call the Rumford Census 2000 Field Office at (207) 364-3010, or call the bureau's toll-free number at 1-888-325-7733.

Two dogs missing

GREENWOOD--Two dogs disappeared July 4 in the area of Twitchell Pond in Greenwood. One, a 7-year-old golden retriever, answers to the name of "Damon." The other, a 13-year-old white shepherd/collie mix, is named "Rontu." Anyone with information is asked to call John or Kathi at 875-2142.

TV tower hearing tonight

BALDWIN--A public hearing is scheduled for tonight (July 9) regarding an application by WMTW Holding Corp. for a 1,667-foot television transmission tower on Bald Mountain. The proposal has produced divided opinion in the community, and prompted the formation of a group known as the Community Advocates for the Saddleback Hills. The project could be considered for Planning Board approval July 23 -- 19 days prior to a scheduled vote on whether to enact a moratorium on towers.

Book features Lake Region

CHARLESTON, S.C.--More than two hundred black and white photos help trace the history of the Bridgton region in a new book titled "Lake Region," by historians Diane and Jack Barnes. The collection focuses on the transformation and evolution of the region, which also includes the towns of Harrison, Otisfield, Waterford and the Saco River Railroad, from the Civil War to the 1960s. The Lake Region book is part of the "Images of America" series issued by Arcadia Publishing.

From the Bethel Police log:

Bethel's wood not for the taking

At 7:45 p.m. on July 6, police observed a vehicle parked at the entrance of the Bethel Transfer Station. The officer spoke to a subject and found she was pilfering wood. He told her the station was closed, and she did not have the right to be there. He warned her of possible criminal charges that could result from her continued activity.

Saturday, July 4

At 1:07 a.m. while patrolling the Sunday River Road, police observed a vehicle operating erratically and with no taillights. The driver was stopped and was given three field sobriety tests, which he failed. James C. Zeagler (no age or address given) was arrested for OUI. A search of the vehicle produced a plastic bag with a usable amount of marijuana. He was transported to the Oxford County Jail and held in lieu of bail.

Sunday, July 5

At 9:15 a.m. a business owner reported someone had tried to kick in his front door. Police examined the damaged door, which had been broken in several places. The officer later found Douglas Baker, 22, of Bethel, who confessed to criminal mischief. He was charged and ordered not to return to the property.

Monday, July 6

At 3:17 p.m., while investigating an incident of operating without a license, police found that the vehicle involved had been stolen from Porterville, California. Christopher Goings, 24, was charged with the unauthorized use of a motor vehicle.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity. To reach the Bethel Police Department, call 911 in emergency situations, 824-3437 in non-emergencies. An answering machine takes calls when an officer is not in the office.

no power over the placement of the facility -- that it was up to the state Department of Human Services. The town was notified of the plan in April.

On Tuesday, Billings returned with several other neighbors and said the selectmen should have called a meeting then to let neighbors know what was going on. He also said Woodstock officials had misled residents about the facility.

Specifically, said Billings, an earlier report from constable Jim Miclon indicated the Madores had operated a "similar" facility in Dixfield. Miclon said he obtained some information about the plans from the Madores, but they appeared reluctant to provide many details. He also spoke to the Dixfield police, who indicated there had been no problems with the operation.

But the Dixfield facility, said Billings, was for 7-to-11-year-olds. "It's not similar at all because it's a younger age group," he said.

Additionally, he said, the "similar" reference was repeated in a newspaper report (June 18 Citizen). "The newspaper prints it as deceptively as it can," he claimed.

Selectmen have written a letter to the Dept. of Human Services noting the neighbors' concerns.

Billings also said he has a 50-signature petition opposing the facility. His wife, Kathy, said later it will be submitted to the Department of Human Services. Most signatures are from Woodstock residents, she said, with many of those from Concord Pond.

Roland Pelletier, a pond resident, also attended the meeting and expressed his concern over the plan.

Selectman chair Steve Bies said the board could send a letter to DHS saying, "we have people very concerned about this and would like to see their concerns addressed."

He also said it may have been an "oversight" for selectmen not to have notified neighbors when the town was made aware of the plan. But some wanted more than a letter. Kathy Billings wanted to know how the neighborhood children would be protected.

Concerns had been expressed earlier regarding the response time for a call to law enforcement. The site of the facility is relatively remote. Neighbors also wondered if the level of protection could be increased.

Miclon said the neighbors could ask to meet with Oxford County Sheriff Skip Herrick regarding law enforcement protection.

Miclon had looked into the situation as Woodstock's constable, he said, but he is also a captain with the Sheriff's Department. "If the sheriff asks me to do something, I will," said Miclon.

It was also suggested the neighbors meet with the county commissioners.

Another neighbor, Lynn Billings, said she was part of a group that has "scheduled an attorney," and the lawyer would be contacting the town regarding the issue.

The letter from selectmen to DHS had been completed Wednesday morning, according to Town Manager Vern Maxfield.

(In regard to Mr. Billings' comment on The Citizen's June 18 article: The article did indeed report Constable Miclon's comments, but it also concluded by noting that the newspaper had submitted a list of specific questions regarding the proposed Woodstock facility to the Madores, and that one of those questions involved a comparison of the clientele at the Woodstock and Dixfield facilities. And the article noted that the Madores had replied only with a general statement, a statement which largely failed to address the questions raised by The Citizen.

Demise of Riverside Family Health Care blamed on finances

By ALISON ALOISIO

Citing financial problems, Swift River Health Care has announced that its Riverside Family Practice in Bethel will close Aug. 1.

The practice, located on the Northwest Bethel Road, opened in 1996. Primary care has been provided by Dr. Thomas O'Meara and physician's assistant Catherine Dorr.

Jackie Kilbreth, practice manager for Swift River, said in a statement that the Riverside clinic had "operated a deficit for a number of reasons. These include reductions in federal and state insurance programs, the growth of managed care, the new Sunday River Clinic and the slower than expected growth in Bethel."

O'Meara said in a letter to patients, "We looked at a number of different options to keep the practice open in the Bethel area. However, we were unable to find one that worked well for the practice and the community."

The office staff will be absorbed into Swift River. O'Meara's plans are uncertain, according to the statement, and Dorr hopes to remain in the Bethel area.

As for patients, the statement said, "Patients at Riverside can have their records transferred to another provider prior to Aug. 1 by calling Riverside at 824-6252. After Aug. 1 patient records may be obtained by calling Swift River Health Care at 369-0146. All of the health plans accepted at Riverside Family Practice are also accepted at Swift River Health Care."

Jeff Sommer, a spokesman for Swift River, said Wednesday the clinic had looked at ways to lower costs or change office hours to allow the Bethel office to stay open, but "nothing seemed to really work in the end."

Tavern

ON THE ENDANGERED LIST--The 200-year-old Peabody Tavern in Gilead was recently put on Maine Preservation's 1998 List of Maine's Most Endangered Historic Properties. It is currently for sale, and is described as being in disrepair.

from Bridgton. The Peabody family had earlier lived on the coast of Maine, possibly explaining the roof style.

Historian Randy Bennett of the Bethel Historical Society estimates it has been 50 years since anyone lived in the building. "We just pass it by today. It just sits there in the woods," he said.

But 200 years ago, it was a reliable stopping point for oxen and horse drivers bringing farm produce to market in Portland. And in the 1820s and 1830s, it became a popular inn, when tourism and getting away from the city became the thing to do. "Gilead was a destination point," said Bennett.

The tourism tradition, he said, began with small taverns and inns like the Peabody, rather than with the grand hotels of the White Mountains.

Also among the Peabody's 19th-century clientele, said Bennett, were scientists who came to study the flora, fauna and gem and mineral specimens of the White Mountain region.

Today, the tavern's most unique aspect is that it retains its original appearance. "It looks just as it would have 200 years ago," said Bennett.

But Roxanne Eflin of Maine Preservation is worried that might not be the case much longer.

The tavern, she said, is owned by a party from Connecticut who "wants to get out from under it."

"It's a serious situation," she said. "(The tavern) needs help."

Eflin hopes someone with an eye to preservation will purchase it. "Its location on Route 2 makes it eligible for clever adaptation and reuse of some sort," she said -- ideally, a use not that different from its original purpose. An inn or a bed & breakfast, perhaps.

Original features of the structure's interior include a staircase, a fireplace and trim. Although the outside basically looks like the original, the current siding is aluminum. Eflin thinks the original boards underneath are restorable.

Maine Preservation can provide advice on obtaining tax credits for historical preservation, she said.

"I hope someone will understand what is significant, and incorporate it into whatever project they do," she said. "It's 200 years old, and it deserves a new life."

Skates

Street. ... I just see too many injuries to the riders."

Broderick's basic argument is that present-day in-line skates are highly controllable -- and that rather than their being lumped with more erratic types of "toy vehicles," such as skateboards and roller skates, they should be dealt with in the same manner as bicycles.

Bicycles have access to the same roads as automobiles, and bicycle riders are legally required to obey the same laws as drivers.

Broderick provided the board with ordinances from other parts of the country where bicycles and in-line skates are already treated as legal equals.

And he demonstrated for the board how the braking systems on two types of skates operate.

Tripp conceded the brakes make a big difference between the in-line skates and other toy vehicles.

"A skateboard has no designed braking system," Tripp said. "That's where I can with a clear conscience differentiate between two vehicles

-- he (an in-line skater) can stop." But Tripp was still opposed to relaxing the present restrictions.

"I don't know if the members of the Board of Selectmen can remember the reasons for this ordinance being enacted in the first place. Prior to this ordinance the Bethel Police Department was receiving numerous complaints from citizens that this type of activity was endangering the safety of people on foot and in vehicles. Skateboarders and rollerbladers routinely rode on the sidewalk and forced pedestrians to yield to them; this was most common on Main Street. There were reports of people riding out into the roadway without regard for vehicular traffic with numerous near misses being reported. It is no small wonder that we did not have someone seriously hurt during the time the ordinance was being written and prior to its enactment."

"I can sympathize with Mr. Broderick," Tripp said. "It is unfortunate that the actions of a few can adversely affect the activities of many. I have no doubt that Mr. Broderick would conduct himself in a prudent manner while rollerblading, but there are a large number of persons, both adults and juveniles, who would take this opportunity, if the ordinance was repealed, to operate their vehicles in a manner that would infringe on the rights and safety of others within the town of Bethel."

Selectman Bob Chadbourne also expressed concern regarding the safety of other users if in-line skaters were allowed on the streets.

He said the skaters he has seen using Paradise Street often seemed to swoop from one side of the road to the other, potentially impeding traffic and posing a threat to other users, including pedestrians.

And Broderick conceded that a certain skill level is needed for a skater to stay in-line; especially on hills.

But even on hills, he said, "If a large animal, a moose or something, ran out in front of me, I'd use the brake ... and I have."

Rockhounds

siderably since the association was formed, said Davis.

Back in the 1940s and 1950s commercial mining operations in the area searched for mica (used in radio vacuum tubes), feldspar (for ceramics) and beryl (used in the atomic industry).

As these minerals were collected, any others were tossed aside in "dumps." The dumps, said Davis, provided prime material for individual rockhounds.

But as the years went by, the known sites were picked cleaner and cleaner. Now, rockhounds working the older sites "have to be persistent and go deeper," said Davis.

It can also be more expensive to find prized specimens. Quarrying and blasting -- and charging outsiders who want to hunt for specimens -- have become more commonplace, he said. Because younger rockhounds have never known anything else, there is a difference in expectations between generations.

"What seems so little to me will please a newcomer," said Davis.

Still, they all have something in common. "Ultimately, everybody would like to make their own find," he said.

Bethel

by Virginia Keniston

Keith and Sally Wilson of Salem, N.H., with their son Scott and wife Amy entertained

48 members of their family, relatives and friends at a cookout at their cottage on North Pond in Locke Mills on the Fourth. Keith's sister, Barbara Bryant of Scarborough, was honored with gifts and a beautifully decorated cake (made by Doreen Tibbetts Vail of South Paris) in celebration of her 70th birthday. This surprise was arranged by Barbara's daughter Susan and husband Jeff Leighton and family of Scarborough. Keith's twin sister, Kay Payn and her daughter Laura and granddaughter Natalie, all of Pittsburgh, Pa., and daughter Carol of San Francisco, Calif., attended as did sister Dorothy York and husband Garey of Bethel, whose three children and families were also present.

Paul Pitkin of Seattle, Wash., spent the past weekend with the Norman Docks after visiting his mother in Portland.

A complete surprise party was held for Doris Fraser on her 75th birthday, June 28, at the Bethel Masonic Hall. There was a money tree. Refreshments were served, including a birthday cake provided by son Orlando Fraser, who was unable to attend. Those attending were: Phyllis Stevens; Sue, Greg and Elizabeth Merrill of Norway; John and Edleen Winslow; Walker Beav-thesne; Diane and Stan Walker; Wilma Gorman; Grace Fraser and Georgia Ganeau of Norway; Jessica Walker; Ryan Walker; Rev. Darrell J. Cape, Florida; Ginny and Buster Williamson, Upton; Julie and Ed Daye, Sunday River; John and Rose Travers, Errol, N.H.; Eva Lane, Bethel; Betty Perkins, Bethel;

Richard and Nancy Fraser of Poland; Joshua Smith of Lewiston; Muriel Butters, Bethel; Florine Bowden, Albany; Julie A. Phaneuf of Kennebunk; Edna York, Ruth Bean, Betty Blake, and Allan Fraser, all of Bethel; Tim, Mary, Kyle and Bryon of Gray; Scott and Orlando were unable to attend.

Edward A. Carter ("Teddy") recently spent a week visiting his daughters in Silicon Valley, Calif.

Ann Carter Groves of California spent a week visiting relatives in the area. On Sunday, she completed the 100 miles in the Western States trail run.

Kenneth and Gwenth Bohr have been visiting in Brookline, Mass., with daughter Gretchen and husband Richard Courage. A going-away party was held for Gretchen, as they are moving to the Berkshires in Massachusetts.

It was a lovely day, Saturday, July 4. The Art Show was a great success. Outstanding works of crafts people were well appreciated by the many patrons. Tom McGinniss received the painting of the day. The Arlo West Trio provided background music. The Portland Symphony Brass Quintet performed at the Bethel Historical Society picnic and celebration. Regardless of the rain sprinkling at the end of the day, the fireworks were great. A great day in Bethel.

The Robert Keniston clan met at their Songo Pond camp with tents and enthusiasm for a great long weekend. Becky Shaw and Rachel McKnight celebrated their 50th birthday (July 2) with a lobster feed and all the family. David and Jodi Keniston had an anniversary (July 2) and Martha Keniston Bangs' birthday was July 1. Four generations of family were present, including Peter and Sheryl of Vermont.

Greenwood Historical Society met July 1 at the Meeting House in Locke Mills. Plans were made to have the Meeting House open to the public each Saturday through August. Greenwood Days will be held July 11 with breakfast at the church, flea market, craft booths, food table, etc., at the historical building. The latest artifact added to the society was a beautiful cradle used by Arthur Herrick, donated by Barbara Herrick Brown of Bethel. Arthur, as a youngster, was a resident of Greenwood. "The Twelfth Maine Volunteer Infantry Regiment," a book by Harry Clements Jr., was presented to the society by Butch Fuller.

Margaret "Amy" Davis' family gathered over the long holiday weekend with four generations present: Betsy and Mark Retallack and two sons, Beverly, Mass.; Susan and Harvey White and family, Lisbon Falls; Andy and Pat Davis and children, Berwick; Tom Davis and friend Pittsburgh, Pa.; Ben and Maggie Davis and friend, Lynchburg, Va. Mike and Kathy Davis and family are on a trip to Minnesota.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Howe went with Mr. and Mrs. Rudi Honkala to Ottawa to visit cousins, Bill and Joan Howe and Bob and Elizabeth Stedman. They returned Tuesday of last week.

Doris and Al Chiaradonna of North Reading, Mass., visited Mr. and Mrs. Rodney Howe on Sunday.

Ashley Gunther, granddaughter of Sandra Gunther, recently graduated from Peru Elementary School. She was runner-up for the Principal's Award, received the All Around Athlete Award, and also was chosen MVP in softball. Ashley looks forward to attending Dirigo High School in the fall.

Ruby Coolidge, Susie Buckman, Kathie Cole and Sandra Gunther recently returned from their vacation in Tennessee. Jeri Tate from North Carolina joined them in Nashville, where they all stayed with Eric Gunther. Eric's new home was bursting at the seams. While in Nashville they did some sightseeing, attended Fan Fair, danced at the Wild Horse, and attended a concert at Loretta Lynn's ranch. Another side trip to do a little gambling on Merv Griffin's Riverboat in Illinois was a lot of fun. Eric deserves a big thank you for putting up with and showing five women around.

Bethel House

by Ruth Cummings

At last the sun is shining. I received 14 inches of rain in my gauge for the month of June. The average since I started in 1967 is about five. The greatest amount was in 1973 with 9.09 inches.

Bethel House residents, and I guess many others in town, were startled a little after 1 p.m. last Wednesday by a sudden explosion. That was the only name for it that I had. One resident here reported seeing a ball of fire. I thought the lightning must have struck somewhere. I heard a couple of loud claps of thunder but saw no lightning. I did not look for it either. I shut off the air conditioner at once and pulled the plug on that and my T.V. Telephones went dead here and a few had their's back by 5 p.m., but some of us were without phone service until Thursday. The fire doors closed and can be opened but will not stay that way. We were very lucky to keep our power and at least we could run fans, have lights and cook. One resident was up by the Moses Mason House and she had to walk home through that pouring rain. We were very lucky that things were no worse.

The Bethel Citizen and Sun Journal Sunday were delivered at my door last Thursday by Matthew Conkright of Newry. And it was one of the nicest Citizens I have seen. Certainly took me some time to read it.

Mike Daniels, the editor, explained to me that sometimes for lack of space they just have to leave something out but that it was put on the table and would be put in when space permitted. True to his word the missing material was included in my column last week.

Rodney Hanscom, 85 Middle Intervale Road, was a recent visitor of his sister, Amy, at the Rumford Community Home recently.

Robert Cole of Vernon Street and Charlotte Cole of Greenwood were also recent visitors of Amy.

Robert Cole called on me the eve of the "big bang" and wanted me to call Brooks Brothers, as he had trouble at his place and no phone. I told him I did not have a phone but Don Brooks lived next door, and he was going there to see him. Hope Don could help him.

Amy Hanscom will celebrate her 88th birthday on July 14. She certainly would appreciate cards. Her address is P.O. Box 636, Canton, ME 04221-0636.

Shannon Sumner has not been seen by residents of the Bethel House for quite some time, but Lisa told me recently he has been sick but would be seeing us soon.

Dana Rowe of Coastal Management was at the Bethel House recently on maintenance.

Sonny and Nancy Cummings are busy entertaining their three grandsons, Philip, Brian and Jason Thorne from Alabama and telling them about the wonders of the state of Maine.

Bonnie and Christine Hanscom went to South Weymouth, Mass., on the weekend to see their new grandson, Tyler Harold Hanscom, who arrived on June 25. He weighed in at 9 pounds and is 21 1/2 inches long.

Judy Gagnon of Cumberland Center and Tom Russell of Bryant Pond were recent visitors of their mother, Irene Russell.

Paul Bartlett of Locke Mills was a recent visitor of his mother, Helena, at the Bethel House.

There was a very large attendance at the Bethel Alliance Church on June 28. Guest speaker was Michael Heath of the Christian Civic League of Maine. He had a very nice message. His wife, Pauline, had some special music and led in the singing. Judy Webster played the piano.

My favorite hymn on that day was "Take the Name of Jesus with you."

"They walked down the lane together/The night was studded with stars/They paused at the gate together/For he opened the bars/She lifted her brown eyes to him/There was nothing between them now/But he was only the hired man/And she was a jersey cow."

Jennifer Morin, daughter of Bob and Cheryl Morin, has returned home from a 10-day

Youth in Action training camp sponsored by Child Evangelism Fellowship. Jen was one of 90 teens participating in the program held at Camp Good News in Essex, Livermore. Part of their training consisted of working in 5-day clubs assisting summer missionaries and working with children.

Our local ball teams are continuing to do well this season. The girls' Rookie League softball team, coached by Brian Mills, remains undefeated, while the boys' Little League baseball team, coached by Ed Witt and Glen Conrad, won an exciting game at home last week to move into first place. Good luck to everyone.

Brian Mills is sponsoring a girls' (8-10) softball Tournament Team to play in a weekend tournament in the Lewiston area this coming weekend. The team will be comprised of older members of our local Rookie League team, along with some players from area teams. We wish you good luck as well.

The Calvary Congregational Church VBS closing program will be held Friday evening, July 10, at 6:30 p.m. at the church. A short performance by the children will be held and crafts will be on display. Refreshments to follow. Everyone is welcome.

The Ellis River Riders will hold their monthly meeting on Monday, July 13, at 7 p.m. at the Fire Station. The IAHRONA Northeast Arabian Horse Club will hold their second horse show at the ERR grounds on Sunday, July 19, at 9 a.m. The Food Booth will be open.

I have decided everyone must be on vacation, as very little information came my way this past week.

I no sooner mentioned that we had no ducks than a couple families visited the pond. Apparently they must make the rounds. It makes sense, I suppose, because swimming must strengthen them. They have a long trip ahead of them not too far in the future, although the summer may seem long to them. I remember when the summers stretched endlessly, but now it seems only too short a time before the storm windows have to go on and the oil tank filled. Also, it takes all the romance out of one's soul.
My son, Ralph Mills from Colchester, Vt., is home for a vacation from his work at IBM. It isn't always a vacation from work, since I can usually find a couple of things that require his expertise. At least he doesn't have to do a lot of the things he "usta," as Andy can take care of any of the carpentry, such as redoing the Poochie Pen and Lucy Lounge, which I'm sure he's not fond of either, since I'm always coming up with a new idea or two. But Ralph is our electronics expert. This year I want the phone moved out of the dining room to a more logical place. I'm sure when the phone was put in the room was a bedroom, but it isn't now. With the phone in there, the dining table becomes an office. I want my dining room to be just that, so the phone goes.
We were very sad to hear that Andy's long-time friend, Arthur Ljén, died Wednesday evening at the Sacred Heart Hospital in Spokane, Wash. He had been fighting a two-year bout with lung cancer and he had gotten pneumonia, not something one wants with lung cancer. We both will miss the twice-weekly phone calls we shared with Arthur over the past couple of years. He was a delightful conversationalist as he was knowledgeable in a variety of interests. He also was the organist at his church, so he and I used to compare notes, so to speak, of specials we did. But of course the greatest loss is Andy's. When someone loses a friend who is more like family and has been for a long time, it makes it much harder. We will miss him. Someone once wrote that the loss of any man changes the world and us. And so it does.
Ralph Mills, Andy and Lorraine Larson visited Carolyn Colby and

Brian in West Greenwood Tuesday evening and had a good time sorting old photographs, which Ralph is trying to put into albums.

Upton

by Eleanor LeComte
We were all happy to see the sun shining on the Fourth of July, Sunday, the 5th, was only partly sunny and cool.

All over town families came together for a good old-fashioned American Fourth of July. The Goodrum family was well represented with four generations present. Mae Goodrum, mother of Horace II and great-grandmother and grandmother to more kids than I can mention, was the reigning queen. It was too cold to swim in Horace and Pat's pool, so the kids rode their bikes and did their wonderful kid things. Those present at the reunion were Mae Goodrum, Pat and Horace II and IV, Suzie Cable, Rodney, Michelle and Samantha, Stacey and Jeffrey Holmes and many more including six dogs of various breeds.

The Back Street and Mill Road families were also well represented. The smell of hot dogs and hamburgers on Route 26 was enough to give you heartburn.

The little town of Upton was filled with many families from various states. There were people from New Jersey, New York, Florida, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Canada, and May Dynon from County Kerry, Ireland. It was a wonderful holiday.

Erol, N.H., had a great parade with flea markets, bake sales, fireworks and cookouts. The painters have finished painting and repairing the old school building, now our Municipal Building. It looks wonderful. It rained all but two days in June making it very difficult to complete the job. The painters have now moved across the street to the Upton Union Church. While preparing to paint the roof, they discovered that the steeple and base are in very poor condition. The bell tower will have to be completely replaced. The project is being financed by the "Friends of the Upton Church." The fund is all but depleted after paying for the paint project. Sue Nelson and I are caretakers of the fund, and this is not good news. We will study the situation and get estimates for replacing it and determine how to raise the money. We will need a crane to remove the structure and bell and also to replace it. We are open for suggestions from the public. This is a fine, old non-sectarian church, and we all love it. It is available for weddings, funerals, and other religious meetings. We know we can solve this, but it will depend on the generosity of the public.

The Fourth of July 1998 made you sit back and think what a wonderful country we live in. Happy Birthday, U.S.A.!

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War met for the Maine Department Convention in Waterville on June 25 and 26. Those attending from Judith Grover Tent 17 were Sally Sawyer, Elsie Bonney, Helvi Cary, Michelle Cary, Marybeth Hoover and Alice Hoyt.

Judith Grover Tent 17 will meet on Monday, July 13, for a regular meeting. There will be a tasting party.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mark Mills and to the family of Alice Wardwell. Sympathy is also extended to Rodney Ring and family in the death of his grandson.

Bryant Pond Hour on Channel IV TV is Thursday at 7 p.m. and Saturday at 9 a.m. The speaker will be a possible candidate for the church. Mr. Kenneth Moholland will be at the Baptist Church on July 12. He will speak both morning and evening.

Joseph and Maggie Hoyt are visiting their father, James Hoyt, for a few days. The Historical Society is interested in the people, places and events of our past. The museum has many fine antiques in its collections. Curator Larry Billings plans to reduce his donations to the society somewhat to keep it from becoming too full. Curator Billings will be reading poems by Maine writers at the July meeting of the society. The July meeting is Saturday, July 11, at 7 p.m. Mary Billings and Annella Burnham watched the museum recently. Thanks. Curator Billings has done much recently to reorganize the museum.

Mason Township

by Richard Grover
If you're wondering why there was no "Mason article" last week, it's because I didn't write one. I'm determined to only write when I have a story that I consider worth putting on paper.

It was a really big weekend in Mason this week, being the Fourth and all. Mona and I took the camper to Wild River on Wednesday evening to avoid the weekend rush, as there are only three RV campsites there. Then we came home every day to work and feed our critters. Friday and Saturday we spent in a frenzied rush to put a lean-to on the back of the barn for hay storage for Goober, the bull calf. Brother Rupert and a crew of visiting relatives got a batch of the best hay cut and had it ready for delivery even before the carpentering was done. Dave Hanscom and Rupert helped get the roof on the shelter, and we got three trailer loads of loose hay under cover just before it started raining on Saturday evening. Whew! That was close.

We did take a break Saturday afternoon to join a large group of friends and relatives enjoying a 4th of July get-together at Dan and Nancy's home by the pool.

The summer population of Mason jumped a full 25 percent with the arrival of Ray and Donna Whipple and eight or nine relatives spanning three generations. Ray and Donna usually spend most of the summer at their camp by "The Falls" swimmin' hole.

Dewey and Verna Thayer are being blessed with a two-week visit by grandson Greg Thayer. Greg is the trainer for the Anaheim Mighty Ducks NHL hockey team, and is on summer vacation.

Dennis and Rosemary Bunn, summer residents at a camp by the bank of Pleasant River here, have a visitor for the week; she is a student who works for the state of Florida Department of Forestry. With all the forest fires there, she is concerned that they may not have any forests left for her to work in by the end of the week.

For some time now, I have been concerned about the power of computers to run, or to ruin, or lives at the speed of light. Two weeks ago, I had an experience with a bank computer that confirmed my worst fears. The bank will remain unnamed, because, in all fairness, they did resolve the problem with my account. I relate the story solely as an example of how fast computers can "get you."

A while back I had to refinance my home as part of a divorce settlement. When I did this the bank set up an automatic payment schedule, where the bank computer would automatically withdraw the amount of my mortgage payment from my account on the first of the month. The problem is I have a military retirement check automatically deposited to the same account "on or about the first of the month." When the account was set up I explained that the government check sometimes did not get credited to the account until the second or third of the month. At that time I was assured that there would not be a problem, because the computer would just "automatically keep checking the account until there was money enough in it to cover my payment."

You guessed it. The third week in June I got a "notice of nonpayment or late payment" of my account. Further, I was assessed a penalty of $34.14 (I think it was) for late payment. As of June 17, my June payment had not been made. Well, this made me very unhappy, to say the least. Next day, I went to the bank, first thing, to check the balance in my savings account. Sure enough, the money had been there since the first of the month. (For once, the government had been on time with my check.) A visit to the branch manager and a letter to the bank president resolved the problem right away, and now my payment isn't due until the fifth of the month.

What bothers me most is what appears to be standard procedure at most banks around here; that is, their computers automatically send out "delinquent account" notices and assess penalties without a real live person even checking to see whether the "deadbeat" is truly delinquent. It seems to me this is a great way to alienate customers who may have been victimized by the computer. I was sure alienated.

South Woodstock

Andrea Wing

We have a new homeowner on Curtis Hill. Tracy Poland has moved into a beautiful new house. I had a chance to visit her and was a little envious, but happy for her. I wish her much luck.

Tommy Poland, along with her girls, Judi Brown, Sandra Monzo, Sherry Poland, Tracy Poland and granddaughter Tammy Davis took a trip to Foxwoods in Connecticut last week for a mini vacation. They all had a wonderful time looking over the sights.

My sister, Dotte Critser, called from Tempe, Ariz., recently. She wanted to try out the new codes you use for telephone calls that last at least 20 minutes. I think we talked much longer. She said the weather has been quite cool, around 90 degrees. She said that's cool for Arizona this time of year. All her family is well.

Those on the honor roll from this area the last school term are Crest Park School -- high honors: Chea Davis, and Telstar High School -- high honors: Jeffrey Chandler, and honors: Emily Phillips, Lacy Phillips, Caitlin Gallagher and Tricia Hadley.

Sympathy goes out to the family and friends of Mark Mills.

Kellie Record and family brought up a birthday cake for Richard Wing last week. Kellie and Jessie Hart had been up to visit Sheila Verrill prior to bringing the cake.

Jessie Hart is working at the Veteran's Home in South Paris this summer.

Tylers celebrate 40th

Janice (Saunders) and Richard A. Tyler Sr. of 16 Gooseberry Circle, Rochester, N.H., celebrated their 40th wedding anniversary at their home, given by members of their families.

Janice, originally from Bethel, and Richard, originally from Gilead, traveled extensively during his 20 years in the U.S. Navy. He retired from the Portsmouth Naval Shipyard, after 12 years. Janice has worked for many years as an LPN in nursing homes and is currently employed by a Rochester, N.H., nursing home.

The couple were married June 10, 1958, in Bethel, and have one son, Richard Jr., who, with his wife, Audra, and daughter, Ashley, live in Lebanon (Maine).

Janice's mother, Marie (Gibson) Bernard, formerly of Bethel, resides with them. They recently returned to New England, after 10 years in Florida.

Emily Phillips received the Coaches Award and Dani Littlehale the Hustle Award from Telstar High School.

Just about everyone has been out picking strawberries lately, rain or shine.

Richard Wing is taking a few days off from work at Bethel MDOT.

Songo Pond

by Alice Kimball

I returned home Tuesday afternoon after spending a few days with Dotie and Herbie

Adams in Hanover. They recently spent a week in Florida visiting his brother in Kierimmer. At the start of their trip on a Saturday morning, June 13, they came and picked me up to ride along with them as far as Carlisle, Pa., to visit my youngest brother and his wife, while they went on to Florida. They saw plenty of fire and smoke, besides visiting the Kennedy Space Center and other Florida attractions.

The pond is as full as it ever has been and some gardens are like mud flats. Some duck families are making themselves at home.

Debbie Eichel and Jon Knight of Worcester, Mass., were recent visitors over a weekend with the Robert Eichels. Rodney Wentzell of Mt. Pleasant, S.C., spent a week at the Wentzell cottage.

Mrs. Margie Wentzell and daughter, Bonnie Dwyer of Sebago, recently enjoyed the quilt show at the Middle Intervale Meeting House and luncheon at the Dr. Moses Mason House in Bethel.

A nephew and his wife and two daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Keene, Ashley and Audrey of Rochester, N.Y., were recent visitors also.

With my brother and wife in Carlisle, Pa., we rode through the Pocono Mountains, or maybe I should say under, as we drove through one tunnel miles long, it seemed, to visit his son's widow and family in Patton, Pa.

While in Carlisle I caught a nice bass in my brother's home pond -- good eating.

We drove home through some heavy thundershowers in the Vermont mountains.

Our deepest sympathy to the Wardwell-Andrews families. Alice Wardwell will be sadly missed by all who knew and loved her.

Greenwood City

by Collista Morgan

In an article this week I read, "Going west on 219 about four miles from West Paris is Greenwood City, as the natives call it -- just a handful of houses and a couple of intersections."

That "handful of houses" is a "handful of homes." There is a difference. These have "a heap of living" with friendliness and kind neighbors.

The intersections? Miscounted. We have a richer experience which is the reward of those who see. For many, there are those who think for everyone who sees.

The sweeping curves of the highways are long remembered by the tourists, displaying views of our ponds above which the wooded mountains tower, furnishing a magnificent background in fascinating patterns.

There is a delicate beauty in the forest scenes with a perfection of soft light.

Any road may take you through stretches of winding and shaded highways well kept and lined with trees. One may follow old county roads which curve with wandering brooks and find clearings. History lies here. Here representatives, men of Greenwood, who have gone out into the world and many who have remained upon its native hills are proof in their character and mental ability of the value of the early training received in "the little red school house," and though not here offered the advantages of an advanced institution of learning, they laid the foundation of a life of usefulness and influence which does credit to these early families and the town of their birth.

The tinted fluff of the apple trees by the farm fences in spring gives perfume to every passerby. In the breeze there is a fluttering of petals and the branches seem rich with the future of promise.

For those who pause for a summer view, they find a charming blend of rural beauty. In July and August the hayfields are a waving mass of gold and white, the typical Maine dandelions, buttercups and daisies.

Pretty shorelines curve gracefully where treetops are etched against the blue of the sky, or maybe against a cloud in the upper world, rounded on the top and looking as if the snows have fallen there.

Fresh breezes carry us the odors of pine or spruce which frame our views toward the distant horizons, rather than the smoke of factories.

Our granite ledges are stained and tinted by moss and lichens or the tiniest of blossoms and gems in our mines. Beyond, there may be the sparkle and ripple on the waters and a mass of dark shadows racing along to complete a most effective view.

Here sunrises and sunsets present a beauty and charm, forever changing with the winds and clouds.

Our Greenwood City is especially colorful in the fall. It has an autumn glow which vividly patterns the forests; the color of the sumac stands flaming crimson by old walls.

Then when winter comes we still are not "a handful of houses" for with roads open in a short time, regardless of the kind of storm, our intersections are as passable as the outside world."

At night a warm light gleams its welcome from home. Serenity is spread across the white wonderland with faint tints and gorgeous glows while our stars seem close enough to touch.

One cannot look anywhere without seeing the mingling of lakes, forests and mountains which give Greenwood a lasting charm while nature breathes of peace as day wanes.

But the morning star returns and its bright light comes again and a few day dawns on our "handful of houses." May it ever be so to those who envision all the wonders hidden from the eye."

Birthday Party

The Curtis family planned a camping trip to Littlefield Beach for the weekend. Albert and Marie left Friday with the rest of the family to join them on Saturday. Saturday afternoon, Albert's sister called to say that they were broken down at Mom's, please come home and help. As Albert and Marie started for home, they saw signs in the ditches of the road with funny sayings on them. It was then that Albert knew something was going on. The party was to be a surprise to Albert, planned for him by his wife Marie and three children, Bonnee, Albert Jr. and Fred and their family and children. Relatives, neighbors and friends from as far away as Massachusetts came to enjoy fun and food. There were 120 who attended. It was a good thing that there were two cakes. Everybody enjoyed roasted pig, cooked beef, roast and smoked turkey and over 30 different kinds of salads and baked beans.

Albert would like to say "Thank you" to all who helped and came to make his 50th birthday something he will always remember. "Thanks again." -- Albert and family.

North Newry

by Gil Seeley

Call to Worship was held at the Newry Community Church at 9 a.m. on Sunday, June 28, with Pastor Rodney Hanscom at the pulpit and daughter Nancy at the organ. Prelude by Jay Hanscom. The Message of the Day was "Blessed Trinity" from Romans 5:4; "And Patience, Experience; And Experience, Hope." There will be no services on July 12, as the pastor will take time off.

Julie and Melissa Strauss spent the weekend with their grandparents, Sylvia and Bill Wight.

Bill and Sylvia Wight went to a birthday party for Albert Judkins in Peru on Sunday. It was his 80th birthday.

A family get-together was held at Ras and Karlene Bachelder's home on Sunday, June 28, with their eldest son, Don and son Brett from Oxford, Ga., their daughter, Heidi, and her husband, Arlan Littlefield and their children, Julie and Jody, from West Bethel, also a cousin, Ida Kretschmar from Texas, and I was there also enjoying a cookout-eat-in. On Monday, some went to Stratton to visit with grandfather Aaron Bachelder.

John and Nancy Wight had a July 4th cookout for family and friends. There were 25 in attendance from Newry, Greenwood and Massachusetts.

Do you really want to lose weight? First, you have to have will power. Then you start at the new moon. Here is a one-day diet: 8 a.m., large glass of citrus fruit; 9 a.m., one cup of herb tea; 10 a.m., large glass pineapple juice; 11 a.m., as much water as you can drink; 12 noon, large glass of apple juice; 1 p.m., one cup of herb tea; 2 p.m., large glass of citrus fruit; 5 p.m., as much water as you can drink; 6 p.m., large glass of citrus fruit; 7 p.m., one cup of herb tea. Do this twice a week till you lose the weight you want. Then one day a week. This will cleanse your body and get rid of a lot of bad discomfort you have been experiencing. Good health to you. "Even a 40-hour fast in which you consume nothing but fruit juices has a very beneficial effect."

East Bethel

by Nancy Mercer

Alder River Grange will hold a meeting on July 10 at the hall at 7:30 p.m.

This is a three-point meeting with a 6:30 p.m. supper. Please bring a casserole or salad for the supper.

Claire Piatlock's granddaughter, Jessica Lavalley of Errol, N.H., visited recently for two days.

Lucy and Jack Nordahl and his two sisters and brother were in Acadia National Park for a week, returning on July 4. They walked and bicycled all over the park. All but Lucy went on a whale watch and saw several whales. Lucy stayed with Mikie.

Paul and Charlotte Kimball went to Clare Hamlin's summer camp in Waterford for a cookout and swimming on the Fourth. Later they went to Grace Gibson's to help Stan and Esther Wilson celebrate their sixth anniversary. They also took in the fireworks in Bethel in the evening.

Rudi and Barbara Honkala, with Rodney and Gerry Howe, went to Ashton, Ontario, where Bill and Joan Howe live. He is a son of C.D. Howe. They left on June 28 and returned on June 30 and enjoyed the visit.

Jim Haines returned from his dig on July 1. He found a "peck" rock used to shape other rocks.

The East Bethel Church will have a service at 2 p.m. on July 26 and Aug. 23. Ben B. Conant will be the pastor.

A moose was hit just below my place while I was getting news. The Bethel police had to put the animal down because of its injuries and they got a wrecker for the car.

West Bethel

by Karen Jordan

Just like other civilized folk, we who choose to live in Maine appreciate a warm hello and a smile. We don't understand the cold, silent stares we get from visitors who are too busy recreating to enjoy our little towns and simple lifestyle. Some claim that we are unfriendly, but I claim to differ.

A young girl recently turned up her nose as she asked what we did for shopping malls and recreation besides skiing. She recalled traveling up Route 26 and seeing "the little shacks along the road" which so disgusted her she made her boyfriend drive another route so she wouldn't be subjected to the sight of these horrendous little hovels.

I nicely tried to explain that everyone deserved a home no matter how grand or small. She scrunched up her foundation-covered nose and shook her well-sheared head and said this would not be seen or allowed where she came from. She went on to describe her home surroundings and how quickly she could be at Niemen Marcus or Macy's.

I'll admit I'm slow, but I was beginning to hate this perfectly decorated little doll and her wonderful life. Wishing I could tell her to go straight back to that place, I thought better because my mother's words came rushing into my head, and I realized we'd be better off here without her sort.

I began to drawl and tell her about the quiet, the stars and all the forest animals that we hold so dear to us here in Maine. I put on a real show and told her to not even think of moving here because she would be very unhappy and not fit.

I know she could not comprehend my love of this wild land and all the things in it, and it was ok because I felt the same way about her home place. However, there is one very big difference between myself and this young woman.

Lesson: When visiting Maine remember to respect our way of life and all that we hold dear, including the little homes where the best and proudest of people live. Remember you are a guest of the state of Maine and her people whether rich or poor. We are rich in neighborly ways that many envy and come to Maine to try to capture.

Girls' basketball has busy summer

Girls' basketball in SAD44 has a new look and vision for the new school year and into the future. Newly appointed Telstar Regional High School varsity girls' basketball coach Kelly Dole and parents from grades two through 12 of Andover, Woodstock and the greater Bethel area met informally June 15.

Coach Dole outlined her visions, goals, expectations and potential activities regarding girls' basketball at the elementary school, middle school and high school levels. The parents of grade two through 12 girls' basketball met June 30, and discussed some short-term and long-term fundraising, game and school atmosphere activities at home games.

A Very Special Thank You

The community came together in a very special way to put together a very successful dinner for my benefit. Everyone involved worked hard to make this a huge success. Thank you to all the volunteers for donations of food, door prizes, the Legion Hall, and to all of you who attended.

I cannot express how grateful I feel to live in a community that cares so much. A heartfelt thank you goes out to each and everyone of you. The care everyone has shown since I have become ill has been overwhelming. The prayers, cards, well wishes, telephone calls, food, flowers, visits, and overall kindness + care that I received is appreciated beyond words. And last of all, a loving thank you to my husband Jerry, my children Faith & Jerod, and our families for their ongoing support.

Much love and appreciation
Sheila Verrill
